What's Happening

We're updating Abbotsford's Official Community Plan!

Abbotsford is growing! To accommodate and plan for growth over the coming decades, Abbotsford is updating the Official Community Plan (OCP) and looking for input to shape the future of our city.

What is the OCP?

The OCP is Abbotsford's overarching plan for the future of the city and our neighbourhoods.

It is our most important tool for managing growth and change, setting a vision for the future, and guiding where and how people live, move, work, and play in our community.

What does this mean for you?

The OCP is the City's roadmap for land use and development, influencing many aspects of our daily lives.

The policies in this plan will shape our neighbourhoods, and affect how we live, work, play, and move.

Some things have changed... making your involvement more important than ever!

Recent provincial legislation no longer allows the City to hold a public hearing for residential rezoning applications that align with the Official Community Plan.

This OCP update is your chance to tell Council what you like or dislike about our future development plan.

Why are we updating the OCP?

The OCP was adopted 8 years ago. Since then, Abbotsford has become a bigger city with new challenges and opportunities. The OCP update allows us to build on the existing plan and respond to changing needs and pressures, today and into the future.

How can I get involved?

You are encouraged to participate throughout the OCP update process. For the latest updates and opportunities, or to contact staff, visit letstalkabbotsford.ca/ocp
